Chanukah Party For Children Is Mapped for Dec. 6

The Sisterhood of Temple Shalom, Reform Jewish Congregation of Levittown, Pa., is planning this year's Chanukah Party for the children of their Sunday School on Dec. 6. An extensive program is in the offing, which includes plays in which the children will participate, music, games, toys and prizes.

Chanukah marks the annual Festival of Lights, according to Jewish tradition, which occasion came about as a result of the Hebrews having regained the temple of Jerusalem from Syrian power during Biblical days. The latter endeavored to force the Israelites to worship their idols. The Hebrews rebelled, and in victory, wrested the temple, which had been seized by the enemy, from the Syrians. To commemorate the victory the Hebrews lit an oil lamp, which through a wondrous miracle, continued to burn for eight days. Hence the name, Festival of Lights.

Chanukah is a happy holiday, one in which those in observance exchange presents and extend good wishes to family, friends and neighbors.

The festive occasion will include children in all grades of Temple Shalom Sunday School, which is officiated by Rabbi Harold T. Miller. Mrs. Terry Sorin is head of the committee for the function. Working with Mrs. Sorin is Mrs. Eleanor Rhodes, head of Sunday School Committee. Refreshments will be provided for everyone.

Today's Quiet Moment

Wesley Dixon
First Baptist Church
Levittown-Fairless Hills

"He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters; he restoreth my soul" (Psalm 23:2,3a).

The Psalmist is speaking about God, his shepherd. These words amplify the thought in verse one, namely, the Good Shepherd protects and provides. And, in addition, they suggest refreshment.

Sheep need pasture and water. David, who had been a shepherd himself, realizes this fact. He also knows that God's sheep need refreshment. The soul, as well as the body, cannot get along without food and water. God has provided wonderfully well for both! Jesus said, "I am the Bread of life." He also said, "Whoever shall drink of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst." Are you hungry and thirsty, spiritually? Let Jesus Christ become your satisfying portion. And then be refreshed frequently as you read the Bible, pray, and join in Christian fellowship.

The words of verses 2 and 3a also suggest respite. The sheep were refreshed in order that they might move on. It is good strategy for us to rest so that we shall be able to follow the Good Shepherd as he leads us. We need intermission now and again. When the going is hard and the team needs to collect itself, the captain asks for "time out." You will be ready for the next play, if you enter the sanctuary of God's presence now.

Although the body may be showing signs of wear, the soul in each one of us can be quickened by the refreshment and respite mentioned in these verses.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright, 1953,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 — Critics of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson will make a strong pitch at next month's annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation to put across an anti-Benson platform. They are not expected to succeed; but if they should, it will not be without a fight.

Newest concrete evidence of a strong pro-Benson feeling in at least some parts of the Federation is the platform adopted at the recent annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau. The meeting comprised some 600 delegates representing about 60,000 farmers throughout the state.

Resolutions unanimously adopted by the 600 delegates made up a vigorously pro-Benson, free enterprise program.

They specifically endorsed the Secretary and his program, including the vociferously criticized reorganization of the Agriculture Department and Benson's efforts "to decentralize the U. S. Department of Agriculture and to make its operations more efficient and Democratic."

Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, is himself one of the strongest supporters of Benson, and his program for flexible farm support prices as against the existing program of rigid high support prices.

It is anticipated that there will be a loud rebellion against Kline's stand on this issue at next month's convention, particularly from some southern cotton state delegations. These anti-Benson groups thus far have been the loudest in expressing their feelings. The Michigan Farm Bureau action, however, is regarded as merely the fore-runner of a swelling tide of backing for Benson which probably will beat any convention move to censure him or Kline.

The Michigan Farm Bureau platform said:

"The wisdom of the sound policies enacted by this convention in previous years is now more evident than ever before. These include flexible price supports; development of an adequate foreign trade for agricultural exports; increased appropriations for agricultural research and extension; decentralization of Federal Administrative powers to state and local control and initiative; stabilization policies in the field of money and credit; and insistence that our government policies conform to the fundamental

News of local unions and their members will be welcomed by the COURIER. Address all communications to the Labor Editor, The BRISTOL COURIER, Bristol, Penna.

Striking gas maintenance men of the Public Service Electric and Gas Company of New Jersey meet today in Newark in another attempt to arrive at an agreement with the company.

About 140 men are out in the Trenton area, but no hardship or danger from gas leaks in stoves and other appliances have been reported. Supervisory personnel are available in emergencies.

The union is seeking five per cent increases in wages plus additions in the next two years to bring it to 13 per cent. The company rejected this proposal. The men receive $1.93 an hour. The AFL Public Utility Construction and Gas Appliance Workers union claims workers in comparable employment receive up to $2.15 per hour.

A long dispute between two ship unions in Camden is expected to end with a compromise agreement announced in Camden, N. J., yesterday. The rift involved the CIO Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers and production workers at the New York Ship Building, Corp., Camden, who withdrew from the CIO union in Sept., 1948.

The ship yard workers formed an independent union after breaking away in a quarrel over the admission of railroad employees to membership. In July, 1949, they affiliated with the Boilermakers' Union, AFL.

Along the east coast waterfront, longshoremen will vote between Dec. 5 and 19 on the last offer made to them before they went on strike Oct. 1. Under a Taft-Hartley law injunction, the strikers have returned to work.

Rules on who shall be eligible to vote are being worked out by the old International Longshoremen's Association, the new AFL pier union and the New York Shipping Administration.

The exiled United Nations delegate from Poland, Dr. Marek Stanislav Korowicz, estimates that up to 300,000 Poles are in forced labor camps in his country. He said slave labor is "openly and officially" practiced in 40 major work centers and 37 smaller ones.

AFL union sources yesterday confirmed reports that a strike of the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines has been set for midnight Tuesday.

Some 1,700 drivers and maintenance employees are ready to set up picket lines in an effort to win a wage contract settlement. Their walkout would cripple bus transportation between the Atlantic Coast and Chicago.

A Quick Look: The 22 American servicemen who have defied repatriation from Korea have been promised jobs in this country by Myron H. Wilson, Jr., president of the Cleveland Indians baseball club. The jobs would be in baseball or private industry. . . . The cost of living in New Jersey hit an all-time high last month, 101.5 per cent above the pre-war 1929 level. . . . The National Labor Relations Board has been ordered by Federal Judge Richmond B. Keock to abandon its new policy of withdrawing recognition from unions whose officers were accused of Communist connections.

Driving Programs Pay Off in Schools, State Official Says

HARRISBURG, (INS) — Pennsylvania's high school driver education program is paying dividends.

"Young people who did not take this classroom and behind-the-wheel instruction," says Revenue Secretary Otto F. Messner, "have been involved in more than two and half times as many accidents as the ones with this training."

He points out nearly four times as many "untrained" drivers have been arrested for moving traffic violations.

Messner's report is based on a continuing study of 3,000 young Pennsylvanians undertaken three and a half years ago. Half the group had formal driving training and the other half did not.

He estimates 444 high schools are offering driving training to approximately 45,000 students.

BRISTOL MAN RETURNS FROM PHOTO CLASSES

Robert D. Harmon, 145 Dixon avenue, has returned to Bristol after attending a sales training school conducted by Bell & Howell Company at its Lincolnwood, Ill. plant.

Harmon, who is manager of the Photo Dept. of Nichols Camera & Kiddleland, 325 Mill Street, Bristol, said that the four-day course was designed to show photographic dealers how to help their customers shoot professional looking family and vacation movies.

Dusting Off The News

By CHARLES O. MOLZ

An interior decorator we know in Levittown deplors the fact that as people are getting longer, bath tubs are getting shorter, pointing out the lack of consistency in the trends of modern living.

The Mill street stores have a midget automobile that has lights and horn, and stops for traffic signals. The only thing missing is a parking spot and the best guess on that is that it will be right under the car's foot.

President Eisenhower's pleas to the retail men for more cracker barrels comes just as the time — unfortunately for him — that one of our old college chums in Edgely invented a ready-made soup with alphabet crackers already in it.

A Bucks County Court has ruled that opening an automobile door is a signal for a left turn. It may not be a good wigwag sign, but the wife of our next door neighbor believes it will help the door manufacturers stay in business.

Lazy Louie from Mill street says that now that Johnnie Ray is making movies, crying towels will have to be added as theater equipment to go along with 3-D glasses.

The Bristol juke boxes have a new tune, "Christmas in Killarney," which should enable the Irish to outshine a shamrock with the mistletoe and celebrate St. Patrick's Day and Christmas at the same time.

Over in Tullytown they are making 30-foot test drills into the soil. To the children it means the start of the Walt Disney school. To others it may be just plain boring.

Judge Bard Dies Of Heart Attack

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — Former Federal Judge Guy K. Bard died of a heart attack Monday.

Bard was seized in his law offices in the Bankers Securities Building.

Bard was mentioned as the Democratic candidate for governor.

Bard quit the U. S. District Court July 15, 1952 to be his party's candidate for the U. S. Senate against Edward Martin but lost in the Eisenhower sweep. He returned to his law practice after the campaign.

Firemen's Group Schedules Meeting

With volunteer firemen from 56 companies scheduled to attend the December convention of the Bucks County Firemen's Association, Inc., will be held at Newtown on Saturday, Dec. 12.

Secretary Clifford S. Shearer announced that firemen and women members of the Bucks County Fire Association Auxiliary, will meet at the fire house and church hall across the street from the fire station.

Leonard D. Roberts, Treviso, president, will preside at the meeting which will be considerably "streamlined" since the Fall convention held near Morrisville.

WASHINGTON (INS) — California ranks first in national forests with more than 25 million acres, says the National Geographic Society. Idaho, Alaska, Montana and Oregon follow in that order.

Silver To Address Temple Shalom

In addition to regular Friday evening services, Temple Shalom, Reform Jewish Congregation of Levittown, will have as its principal speaker Dr. Samuel Silver, professor of the Hebrew Union College, New York.

Dr. Silver is known throughout the nation as an authority on Judaism and has addressed audiences on related subjects.

Services will be conducted from the library of Delhaas High School at 8:30 p. m. Nov. 27. A discussion and social period will follow with congregation members and friends participating.

Letters To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

In a few more days the Christmas season will be under way along Mill street. This means lights and trimmings and music. I would like to make a suggestion about one thing — and that is the music.

Last year the music that was carried over the street's loudspeakers was a medley of popular Christmas ditties, carols and sacred music. The popular Christmas songs had a raucous, grating sound to me. They were noisy, blatant and far from soothing. They were more likely to irritate the visitor along the street than anything else.

Can't we do the thing a little more sensibly this year? What do I mean by sensibly? Well, more along the line that other cities and towns do — sweet, soft carols. Get away from Rudolph the red-nosed reindeer and his friends. Sound a note of Christmas cheer and reverence without any element of cheapness.

Do I hear a second?

Badenhausen moved to the top of the Bristol Industrial Bowling league last week by defeating U. A. W. Local 130, two games to one, while erstwhile league-leader Barney's Service took a similar reversal from Philco, Kaiser Metal, Deon's Beverage and Bristol Recreation trailed in that order.

Walters of Philco rolled a 563 triple for tops in that department for the week, while a 221 rung up by Camilleuc of Fifth Ward rated as the best single game.

Three Major Bowl Berths Left Open; Sugar Names Georgia Tech as 'Host'

NEW YORK—(INS)—Only three major New Year's day bowl berths remain open today, but the problem of naming teams to fill them is still as pressing as ever on officials who must pick the post-season game participants.

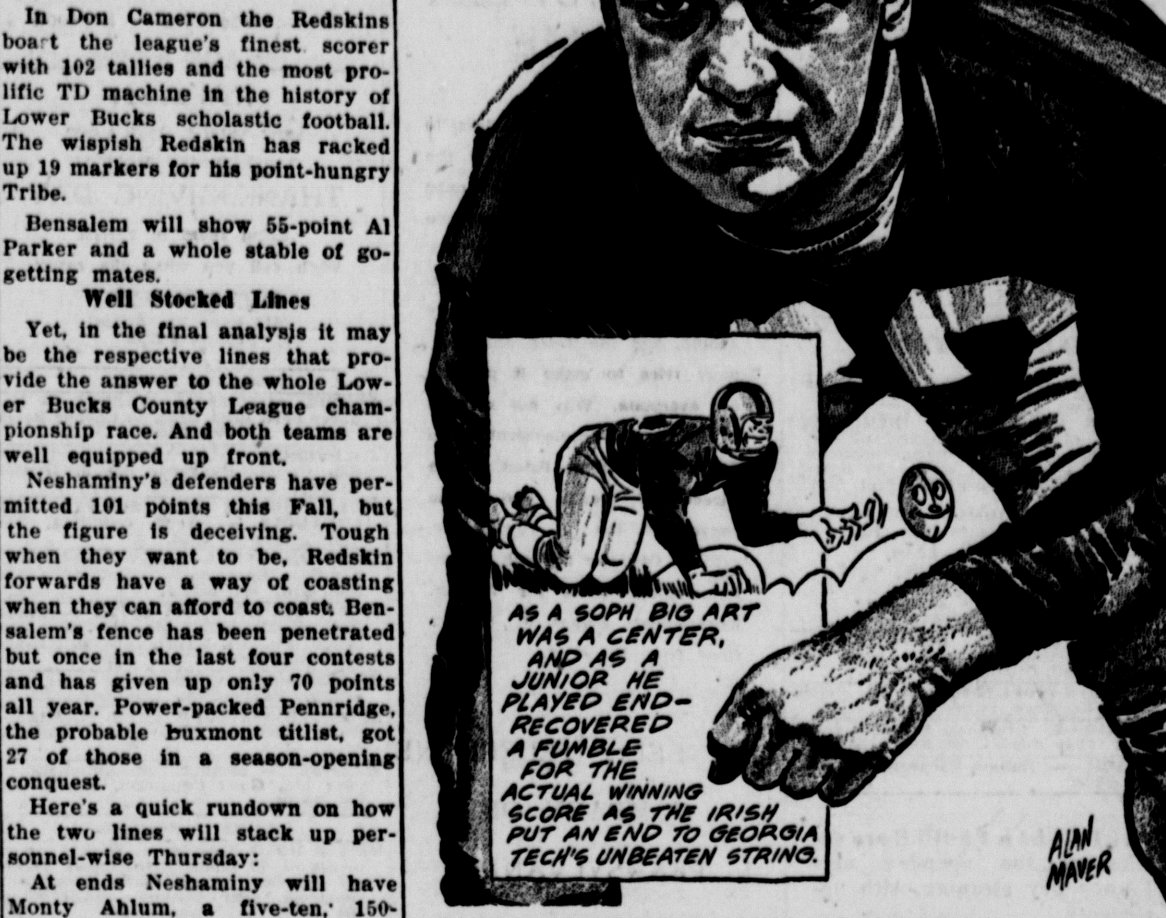

Sugar Bowl officials cut their problem in half Monday night by announcing that Georgia Tech has accepted a bid to be the "home" team in New Orleans' Jan. 1 classic.

The Cotton Bowl in Dallas still is without either team for its New Year's Day extravaganza. However, there's only one team to be invited since the Southwest Con-

Bristol Seniors Set For Thursday Adieu

A lion's share of Bristol High's football team will be in action for the last time as schoolboys Thursday morning when the Warriors take the field against Morrisville at Morrisville in a season's finale.

The seniors, nine strong, will be hoping to extend the Warriors' huge edge in the 25-game series that rates as the oldest in this area. Bristol has won 14 times and lost only seven, while four games have ended in ties. Morrisville won the 1952 installment, however, in a roiling 20-19 brawl.

On the bow-out list is the big center of Bristol's sometimes-fierce line. That includes center Frank Manzo and starting guards, Bob Rago and Bill Harbison. Among them they represent 525 pounds of important football material.

Other interior pickmen out for their final fling will be guard Jim O'Pena and tackle Bob Amadio, both of whom have seen considerable service, especially over the last several games.

Cohen, Conca Leave
Biggest loss to the Warriors

the start of the season to handle Bristol's T-formation, has developed into a heady field general and a better than average passer. Defensively, he backs the Red and Gray line with aplomb, combining a good sense of play direction and a deadly tackling talent.

Cohen has been the Warriors' chief running threat all year, although every defense he has faced has been designed especially for him. He has rolled up 38 points to rank among the league leaders in that department.

Other backs leaving the fold after this one will be Andy Gall and Tony Monte, all backlogs. Gall and Monte have divided offensive chores.

Only one department will be hit lightly by graduation, Bristol figures to have ample seasoned ends to open the 1954 season, despite the loss of John Kopack. The slender senior has been playing regularly since mid season.

Arrangements for the contest, figured a "natural" for this area, were completed yesterday, according to Ernie Pinelli, St. Ann's manager.

The Saints have won twice and lost six in the strong Philadelphia Co-operative League this Fall, while the Aces have done their campaigning in the heralded Big Six conference. The Pennell club currently is in fourth place in its circuit with a mark of four wins against five setbacks.

Growth. Growing Pains Shown In Pennsbury, Delhaas Football

Both the growth and the growing pains of the respective schools were reflected in the football records posted by Pennsbury and Delhaas Highs this campaign.

The two institutions, newest and potentially the largest in a blossoming area, finished in first division of the Lower Bucks County League. Delhaas' Tigers nailed down fourth place with a rousing 32-0 purging of Southampton Saturday and Pennsbury will run second or third, depending upon the outcome of Thursday's Neshaminy-Bensalem struggle.

While they both posted better-than-expected records, both squads were doubled over with the aches of expansion. Pennsbury dropped a 24-20 decision to Neshaminy and chances in its opening game. The Falcons, for one reason or another, were clearly unprepared for so imposing an assignment.

Delhaas, on the other hand, lacked a consistent attack, a situation explained in degree by the cramped training quarters left by construction in the schoolyard.

Fancy Attack
The Pennsbury, flashing a fancy split and winged-T attack, manned by a half dozen fine backs, rebounded crisply from their opening night dunking to win five in a row. They tapered off in a surprising 12-12 tie with Council Rock, stuttered to a dead stop in losing 20-0, to Trenton's Hamilton High, then closed out happily with a 14-13 squeaker over Ewing of the Trenton suburbs.

The Falcons developed a hatful of all-league prospects, including backs Dave Bray, Tom MacMillan, Mike Baldovski and Mort Caffey and linemen Dave Lynn, Ron Pope, Guy Curtis and Averill Queen. They scored a respectable 136 points to 89 for the combined opposition and had their best time of it against Bristol (24-6) and Southampton (28-0) in back-to-back league games. Two weeks later, they tumbled Bensalem, 12-6, almost decommisioning the Owls for good. Bensalem can yet get a share of the title with a win over Neshaminy.

Good Line
Delhaas harried by split-session classes, operated probably the finest defensive line in the conference, but lacked pass security in the secondary. Shortcomings in that department cost them at least two extra victories and a winning season. The Tigers finished 4-5 overall and 4-3 in the league on the strength of wins over Council Rock, Bristol, Southampton and Morrisville. None of the victories were even close.

The Tigers were a many-formation offensive unit in their maiden year as a LBCL contender. They ran from the single wing, double wing, T-formation and a wide spread. Spotty all season, the attacking forces reached a climax in efficiency in blowing over Morrisville, 32-13, then recaptured it for a 32-0 good thing at Southampton.

Six Shutouts
Delhaas was involved in six shutouts during its nine-game program and lost four of them. Only four teams managed to score more than once against the Bengals, and two, Neshaminy and Bensalem, claimed more than two tallies.

Standouts in the defensive line included fullback-tackle Bob Morris.

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:

Publicity May Hurt More Than Help

Silence is definitely golden at times. Knowing when not to open your rosebuds is as definite a mark of poise and self-confidence as a gift of gab.

There are a thousand moments in a girl's life when saying nothing will save her embarrassment, will keep her from being conspicuous, will really save her face for her.

Here is such a moment. Alice writes of one like this:

"DEAR MISS WOODWARD: Although my closest friends have found that I'm anything but shy, just let me into a room filled with people—even my good old familiar classmates—and I clam up. I'd like to do something about it. Can you help me?"

Unless you're really intent on making a grand entrance, there's no necessity to say anything much under such circumstances. You're not really expected to do so or say anything that will make a big impression. You're just joining the crowd, that's all.

Of course, if you want them all to know you've arrived, it's easy enough to attract their attention and make all chatter cease. You can assume an angle like a movie starlet, you can ride in on your bicycle under an open umbrella, you can walk in on your hands or whirl in somersaults. Everybody will know you're there.

But that isn't exactly the point at the gatherings you go to. You need no fanfare of trumpets, no announcement like "let the fun commence, kiddies, I have arrived!" All you have to do is enter the room quietly, look the place over, find a familiar face and go to join it. You can say "hello" to people you pass or stop to chat longer with someone you're glad to see.

Coming into a crowded room alone needn't faze you—not when you know everyone will notice you only if you do something bizarre to demand their attention. They're all happily busy thinking about themselves and the people nearest to them. Slip into the group and annex yourself to a pal—then you'll have a chance to show you're really not shy by chatting your head off.

Out of It

And there are moments when you feel like a downright stranger with people you know quite well. Maybe they're older than you are and their conversation whips around over your head. Maybe they're familiar with what's going on while it's all new and different to you. You're absolutely nothing to add to the conversation—and that awful feeling of being out of things settles down like a cloud.

A safe enough rule to follow is to say nothing when you're nothing to say. Then you'll commit no blunders, or show yourself up for a stupid. Say nothing—just listen appreciatively. If you are drawn into the chatter by a direct question, say something short, non-committal and safe, and sink back quickly into your smiling silence. You're not out of it just because you're not saying much. You're very much a part of it while you quietly listen and learn.

ROMULO TO SPEAK

CINCINNATI (INS)—General Carlos P. Romulo, distinguished Philippine statesman and military figure, will be the final speaker of the University of Cincinnati's 17th annual Contemporary Thought series Wednesday.

Your Birthday by STELLA

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 24 — Born today, the stars have given you a strong, positive personality. You have very definite ideas and like to project them aggressively. You are self-opinioned, as a result—but quite justifiably so most of the time. Still, you are a little envious of any who may reach the peak of success before you do, for you are inclined to think that you are not sufficiently appreciated. Remember that jealousy is really a sign of weakness.

You have a keen mind and do not permit your emotions to rule. You have a strong love nature, but you intend to have things pretty much your own way and are not one to make concessions in romance! You seldom show the true state of your affections and the one you love might have a really rugged time discovering it! Learn to be a little more demonstrative, for your own happiness, if for nothing else.

You will probably do your best work during the middle winter months and should pack your schedule full of activity during this period. You work hard when you work. Learn to relax as thoroughly, when it comes time to play.

You are calm and serene under pressure and are one to whom others are inclined to look in times of crisis. You enjoy music and the arts, but in your youth, may think you do not have time for such "luxuries." Cultivate a hobby in the arts for pleasant relaxation later in life.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Wednesday, November 25

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Why not invite close friends or relatives to your house for dinner this evening? You can have fun.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Be careful to side-step arguments. The most insignificant trifle could cause a serious misunderstanding.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Worry will not help solve a personal problem. If you can do nothing about it, just forget it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20) — Be sure that you have everything in readiness for tomorrow or you may find yourself crowded and rushed.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20) — You will get out of this day, in results, exactly what you put into it. You, alone, determine your future.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21) — You may lose your investment unless you investigate a new proposition very carefully before you make the smallest detail.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Do that last minute shopping for the Thanksgiving feast. If plans are made well ahead, dinner is a success!

CANCER (June 22-July 22) — Don't be trapped into giving away a secret. Show that you can hold even the slightest confidence as a sacred trust.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23) — Sympathy could inspire you to make a promise which deep in your heart, you know you cannot possibly keep.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — A good day to write those letters you may have been postponing. Procrastinate no longer; act decisively.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — A group of friends may ask you to join them. Accept, for it will give you a fresh point of view.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — If you are careful to complete all preparations today for tomorrow's feast, all will go well.

RESTORATION

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—Restoration of Independence Hall in Philadelphia to the same way it was at the time of the signing of the Declaration of Independence in 1776 will be undertaken by the General Federation of Women's Clubs as its national Americanism project for 1954.

Romance Of Levittown Newcomers Began In Carolina When Wife Was 13

By Barbara A. Zauner

Jean Parcel, a former teacher and newspaperwoman, and her husband, Martin, a ceramics engineer with Robertson Mfg. Co., in Morrisville, moved from their home in East Palestine, Ohio, to 47 Overbrook Lane, Levittown, with their two sons three short weeks ago.

Jean is a native of Greensboro, N. C., she met her husband while she was still in high school there. Martin was then attending North Carolina State. Though his home town was Toledo, O., his aunt lived in Jean's neighborhood. Though she was only fifteen years old at the time, they started going together, continuing through the war years until their marriage in 1945.

Martin studied ceramics engineering at North Carolina State, where he graduated in 1941. As a member of the ROTC in college, he went into service as a second lieutenant right after Pearl Harbor. He went overseas in July, 1942, in the Quartermaster Corps. He was returned to the United States from Europe on rotation in March, 1945.

Married In March, 1945

Thinking that he was going to the Pacific after his 10 days leave, the young couple hurriedly made their wedding plans. They were married March 29, but when V-E day arrived Martin was sent instead to Fort Devens, Mass., where he was based for one year before his separation from the Army as a major in the spring of 1946.

Jean attended the Women's College of the University of North Carolina, where she graduated in June, 1942. She majored in English, and was the associate editor of the Carolinian, the college weekly, during her senior year.

After college, Jean taught English and Journalism at Laurinburg high school, Laurinburg, N. C., before obtaining summer employment as a substitute reporter on The News and Observer, Raleigh, N. C. This job became permanent when the summer was over. Jean remained with the paper from 1943 until her marriage, when she went with her husband to Fort Devens for the year he was there.

Personal Shopper

Martin went back to North Carolina State to graduate work. Jean was a personal shopper for a department store in Raleigh, then worked for radio station WRAL where she edited and operated the teletype for an electrical news flash board. She did some news writing as well.

Martin then was later employed at the W. S. George Pottery, in East Palestine, O., for six years. They lived in an apartment for two before building their own six-room home. Martin did his own contracting and a lot of the construction work on the house, but it was nip and tuck whether they would get into it before their second child, Ted, was born of March 30, 1951. They made it with just two days to spare. Toby, the Martin's eldest son, arrived on June 18, 1949.

When Martin was hired by the Robertson Manufacturing Co., a tile manufacturing concern, they came East to investigate the housing facilities in the Morrisville area. They found Levittown the most desirable. They moved in, children and all, on Oct. 31.

Beer Mugs Hobby

Their home is most attractive. The Parcel hobby of collecting beer mugs, some originals and some excellent reproductions, is much in evidence. Of the originals, one pair has a raised design in bright blue on a beige background, with the handles exquisitely carved. The tops are of pewter as they are in the rest of the collection.

With the exception of their modern Daystromette set, beige table top with brown trim, brown tubular steel legs, matching chairs with brown and gold-flecked material covering the seats, they have decorated in period furniture. They have covered their upholstered pieces with scenic prints on brown, coral and green backgrounds.

Fire Company Auxiliary Picks Its New Officers

Mrs. Wilbur T. Albright was elected president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Hose Hook and Ladder Co., No. 2, Bristol, at last week's meeting of the group.

Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Mrs. Horace Carson; secretary, Mrs. Henry Kornstedt; treasurer, Mrs. George P. Bailey, Jr. Trustees elected were Mrs. Jenkin Ott, Mrs. Nicholas Marino and Mrs. Frank Pizzulo. Mrs. Charles Coons was elected chaplain.

The newly-organized group will meet on the second and fourth Thursday of each month. The next meeting will be on Dec. 10. It will be a Christmas party under the direction of Mrs. William Moore entertainment chairman.

NIXON IN RANGOON

RANGOON—(INS)—Vice-President Richard M. Nixon arrived in Rangoon today from the Philippines for a three-day visit to Burma. Nixon, accompanied by his wife, is on a globe-circling trip.

Lower Bucks Red Cross Board Reviews Its Disaster Methods

The Lower Bucks Branch Red Cross Board reviewed disaster preparedness plans for this area at a meeting yesterday at Flannery's Restaurant, Penndel.

Directors of the board and members of the disaster committees and volunteer services from the six Red Cross districts in Lower Bucks County attended. The districts include Bristol (including Levittown), Langhorne, Morrisville (including Fairless Hills), Newtown, Southampton (including Churchville, Ivyland, Trevose and Feasterville), and Yardley.

Henry Ross, assistant director of disaster from the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter ARC, was speaker for the evening. Ross was recently loaned by the Pennsylvania chapter to serve with the national Red Cross personnel at the Worcester (Mass.) tornado.

He spoke of how various disaster services and community agencies were correlated effectively following the tornado. He reviewed disaster policy, stating that this is a chartered responsibility delegated by Congress to the Red Cross.

"Our organization," he said, "responds, when called, to care for disaster victims in situations ranging from large-scale war-caused emergencies to one-family fires."

William Dunn, Langhorne, disaster chairman for Lower Bucks County, introduced Ross. Mrs. Arnold Pierce, Yardley, over-all chairman of the board, presided at the regular bi-monthly meeting.

Disaster chairmen for Lower Bucks County are: Bristol, Harold Ferguson; Langhorne, Clifford Nangle; Morrisville, William Fielding; Fairless Hills, Charles Walp; Newtown, Stevenson W. Fletcher; Southampton, Hans Peters, and Yardley, John J. Fitzgerald.

Churches Report Religious Census Families Happy To See Takers

Reports from close to 300 homes were turned in by the first five churches reporting yesterday on the religious census, being sponsored by the Bristol Ministerium.

"We discovered for each church, there were a number of new families, who had just moved in and were glad to have someone from the church call on them," Rev. R. L. Carlson, secretary of the ministerium said.

Last week's survey was conducted in Bristol township, Rev. Carlson said. He reported that 87 of the homes visited were Roman Catholic; 48 were Methodist; 42 were Baptist; 27 Presbyterian; 23 Lutheran; and 16 Episcopal. He said there were about 10 homes with no religious background or of a denomination not represented in Bristol, such as Mennonite.

The survey, which is being conducted under the direction of John Halco, of the Department of Research of the Philadelphia Council of Churches, will continue for at least two more weeks. The next report meetin will be on Monday.

No Child is Ugly; Theory a Favorite Of Dallas Woman

DALLAS, Tex.—(INS)—A Dallas woman has built a successful business on her theory that no child is an ugly duckling.

Mrs. Betti Terrell, who has won national recognition for her designs for little folks, believes that any child can be pretty with an attractive hair style and good fitting clothes.

The Dallas designer who now travels the world observing children and their activities turned professional by accident.

A neighbor asked her to keep a dress and doll which was to be her child's Christmas present.

"I was shocked by the high price she had paid for the dress and told the woman I could make one just like it much cheaper. So I did and made doll clothes to match."

The woman showed the results to her club members and their additional orders started Mrs. Terrell in business.

She has this advice for budding designers: "Do not depend on the drawing board and cute little pictures. It just does not work. Drawing pictures does not reveal how a certain fabric and color will look when it is made up."

County's Nurses Give Up Chapter Vote To Dissolve, Join Phila. Unit

The Bucks County Registered Nurses of District No. 1 of the Pennsylvania State Nurses Association voted to dissolve their chapter last night.

According to Mrs. Arthur R. Rago, 1509 Wilson avenue, Bristol, a member of the county-wide group, dissolution of the chapter ended a one-year trial period as an independent group.

Members voted to rejoin the Philadelphia chapter of District No. 1, she said, because geographical conditions make it impossible for the unit to function here.

"The chapter was originally formed for area nurses to get better acquainted," Mrs. Rago said, "but the county is so spread out that very few women could attend the meetings."

In addition to the transportation factor, Mrs. Rago said that there is only one training school for nurses in the area, which limits their membership. She added that the group might form again when the Lower Bucks County Hospital is completed and when there will be more nurses in the area.

Out of 76 county members of the P.S.A., only 11 attended the meeting last night, which was held at the Bristol Library.

U. S. Peanut Crop Hits Record for '53

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Agriculture Department said today that world peanut production in 1953 may be the largest on record.

The Foreign Agricultural Service, in its publication, "Foreign Crops and Markets," said the output is expected to be about 11 million 100 thousand short tons of unshelled nuts.

The figure is nine per cent larger than the revised estimate of ten million 200 thousand short tons for 1952.

The predicted production figure for this year would exceed the pre-war average volume by 16 per cent and would be considerably larger than any other subsequent year.

Raisins should be kept in a tightly covered jar or tin, especially during warm, humid weather, to keep them from drying out. Corn in husks should be refrigerated if it cannot be cooked at once.

GOP Chiefs May Talk '54 Slate at Holidays

HARRISBURG (INS)—Reports are insistent on Capitol Hill that Republican leaders will get together around the Christmas holidays for an exploratory on the party's 1954 ticket. A governor, lieutenant governor and internal affairs secretary head the slate.

Gov. ohn S. Fine told friends before leaving for Israel he anticipates the initial meeting will be held before the end of the year, which would be in keeping with the schedule followed by GOP slate-makers. In other years, the governor said at the time he did not know whether the first pow-wow would be held at Harrisburg, Philadelphia or some neutral and out-of-the-way spot.

The probabilities are that an all-male ticket will be advanced for 1954, despite the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women's boom to win the lieutenant governor's post for Mrs. Hannah Durham, of Allentown. One republican close to Gov. Fine pointed out a woman candidate for lieutenant governor would be hard to sell voters, since many would be afraid she might become governor through circumstances beyond her control.

Job Possibility
If a woman ever gets on the GOP statewide ticket, it will for secretary of internal affairs, a $15,000 a year constitutional office. The present secretary, William S. Liven, good, Jr., has held the post longer than any of his predecessors since the office was created by the constitution of 1874.

There are wheels within wheels in government. One is responsible for a mimeographed list of telephone numbers most used on the state capitol's private exchange, which is revised whenever sufficient need arises.

Sees Role Refined
Robert L. Kunz, a former state deputy attorney general now chief counsel for the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities, believes the role of public schools is plainly defined in the fight against Communism. He says "more of the real meaning of the American way of life must be taught in the schools."

The 35-year-old chief counsel says his contention is based on results obtained when the committee looked into cases of American soldiers indoctrinated by Reds after being captured in the Korean war. "The American soldier who accepted Communism, indoctrination were those who did not know what our country good," he insists.

Many school districts are going to be hard hit by the legislative ban on machinery taxes starting Jan. 1, 1956, according to P. O. Van Ness, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania State School Directors Association. He says many districts impose such levies under another name.

A GOAL ACCOMPLISHED

For those parents who contemplate with dread their children locking themselves in a room someday, O. E. Norbeck, 138 Elm street, West Bristol, has come across this story.

A young mother was having great difficulty with her three-year-old son, who had locked himself in the bathroom, and either could not or would not unlock the door. Finally in desperation, she called the fire department.

After a brief wait, a fire captain ran up the front steps with an axe in one hand, a fire extinguisher in the other. The mother explained her predicament, but instead of hacking the door down with his axe, the fireman asked her the sex of the child. When she told him it was a boy, he climbed the stairs and said in his most authoritative voice:

"You come out, little girl!" And, after unlocking the door, he marched the little boy, to defend his honor.

"It works just about every time," explained the grinning captain.

People Places and Things

By CAROL GABLER

Safety in Numbers:

The recent formation of the Levittown-Fairless Hills Amvet group was precipitated by the problem individual veterans faced in trying to get back their certificates of eligibility in the purchase and resale of their Fairless Hills homes.

When they banded together to work on this particular problem—which they're still working on—the new post was born.

A Gilded Cage:

If you're a henpecked husband, it'll cheer you up considerably, no doubt, to know that this week is "National Caged Bird Week."

Pocket That Book!

For those who want to be kept up-to-date on the publishing world of pocket size books, an Easton, Pa. service now provides four catalogs a year with all available books listed. It goes by the name of Handy Size Book Co., Inc.—which is quite a big name for such a "diminutive" service.

His Own Best Customer:

Joseph Richardson, who was one of the founders of the Langhorne Library 150 years ago, built the farmhouse that is now used as the Langhorne Community House. Richardson's interest in the library in the early 1800's, was based on the fact that he himself was extremely well-read. In fact, records that have been preserved show that he took out more books per year than anybody else in the early years of the library.

Steel Output Dips; Forecast for 1954 Still is Optimistic

CLEVELAND (INS)—Steel magazine reported today that most steel producing facilities are idle now for lack of business than in any strike-free or holiday week since the summer of 1949.

The journal said in its weekly steel summary that more than 10 per cent of the nation's ingot-making capacity, plus related equipment, are idle.

Steel said that the ingot rate dropped for the fourth straight time in the week ended Nov. 21, plunging to only 90.5 per cent of capacity.

"While the latest rate of steel ingot production would lead one to believe only 9.5 per cent of the theoretical capacity is idle," Steel said, "the percentage is actually higher, for the production rate is calculated on the Jan. 1, 1953, capacity of 117.5 million net tons."

Steel pointed out that much of the reduced rate of steel buying is attributed to a downward correction in inventories.

"Although steel demand is currently lower than it was," Steel said, "the long range predictions for the steel industry radiate optimism. A large number of economists agree that industrial production in 1954 should not fall much more than five per cent below the 1953 level."

"That should keep steel demand at a high level."

Bathing Beauties, 1911

THEY DIDN'T HAVE BATHING SUITS FOR MEN back then, so Bristol boys decked themselves on the boat's deck with basketball suits. Taken above New Hope, the picture shows, on the rock, one of the old time canal bridges. In case you've noticed the pond expressions on the boys' faces, it's because they built the boat themselves—and this was its maiden voyage.
